Let's Talk Contingent Business Interruption!

Picture this: your insured's website goes dark for hours because of a web hosting provider outage. Where would that leave manufacturers likely dependent on supply chain partners to complete their purchase orders? Such an outage can cripple their operations, leading to lost revenue. Not having Contingent Business Interruption (CBI) coverage will result in the insured absorbing that financial loss on their own. Does their current Cyber policy or endorsement include CBI coverage?

A stand-alone Cyber policy with CBI will help the insured recover from financial loss when IT service provider disruptions strike. Without CBI coverage, your insured is left to shoulder this financial burden alone.

Let one of our brokers discuss your insured's CBI exposures and how to cover those exposures. With our market access and knowledge, we're here to be your agency's invaluable resource.
